DEVELOPMENT ASSOCIATION TO ASK FOR LOWER FARES

Rates Between Stations in San Mateo County Are Too High

The matter of adjusting inter-station rates on the Southern Pacific Railroad in this county was discussed by the Board of Governors of the San Mateo County Development Association Tuesday night and was referred for action to the Railways and Transportation Committee of the organization.

The association is preparing to wage a legal battle before the State Railroad Commission for lower rates between peninsula points. Such an adjustment of inter-station rates was promised the association by the railroad officials.

The Southern Pacific's passenger tariffs show conclusively discrimination between towns in San Mateo county. In cases where the commuter resides in South San Francisco and travels to Redwood City, he is forced to pay more than if he lived in San Francisco. The same is true of existing rates between other points in the county.

After the railroad problem had been discussed from all angles, President H. C. Tuchsen stated that it was the aim of the association to secure for the people of the peninsula their just rights ni the way of transportation rates. The governors present heartily endorsed the sentiments expressed by the chairman.

It is to be remembered that through the efforts of the San Mateo County Development Association, the people of San Mateo county are now saving annually over $60,000 in the reduction of fares on the Southern Pacific Railroad which was obtained a year ago.

The problem of a more equitable adjustment of telephone rates is also receiving the attention of the Board of Governors.

Streets Paved With Gold

Several pieces of gold quartz have been picked up from among the broken rock which recently has been dumped onto our streets. The rock came from the quarry in the hills east of town. Thus far there has been no stampede of gold seekers to the coastside Eldorado.—Half Moon Bay Review.

THE SUPERVISORS

SAN MATEO COUNTY SOLONS

At the adjourned meeting of the Supervisors last Friday bids were received for constructing that portion of the county highway through Hillsborough and San Mateo on El Camino Real and the contract was let to Clark & Henery for $36,900, that being the lowest bid. Before being passed the bid was carefully examined and approved by the advisory board.

Tax Collector McSweeney asked for and was granted permission to collect taxes outside his office.

The Surveyor was authorized to adjust a right-of-way claim on the San Pedro Mountain road for $7500, including damages.

Surveyor Neuman stated to the Board that his low salary of $1600 was based on the understanding that he would be enabled to augment his income by doing private work. That now, owing to the vast amount of extra work devolving upon him by the county bond issue road construction, requiring all his time, it was impossible to perform his private work, so that he thought it was no more than fair that he be given a temporary raise in salary. After considerable favorable discussion and the securing of the District Attorney's approval, the advisory board recommended that Mr. Neuman's salary be increased $150 per month, the money to be paid out of the bond issue fund during such time as the road work is being done, and the Supervisors made a unanimous order to that effect.

At the regular meeting of the Supervisors Monday, October 20, all members were present.

Chairman Brown announced that he had signed the contract in behalf of San Mateo county for construction of the bridge across San Francisquito creek, connecting this county with the city of Palo Alto.

In response to a citation, George Vincent, proprietor of the Bungaiow at Millbrae, was present to show cause why his license should not be revoked. District Attorney Swart first introduced the statement of E. T. Newsome, a private detective, and then Bart Sheehan, Jack Francis, Mrs. J. L. Day, Edw. B. LeRoy, also Mr. Vincent himself.

The decision in the matter was deferred until after lunch, when Supervisor Casey moved that Mr. Vincent be given 30 days grace and receive a reprimand from the chairman. This motion received the entire approval of the Board and Chairman Brown proceeded to reprimand Mr. Vincent, in which he said that owing to a desire to save two young girls' names the evidence had not been as strong as it might have been, but he, Brown, knew of his personal knowledge that the Bungalow had been conducted illegally, and advised the proprietor that he must abide by the provisions of the ordinance or he would surely lose his license.

The Balcroft proprietor at Lomita Park, who was also cited to appear, was said to be away on a vaudeville tour, so had not received the citation. The evidence that the place was being run illegally was very pointed, and the license was suspended 30 days in order to give the proprietor time to appear with any defense he may have to offer.

The resolution to establish the Montara Lighting District was read and approved. Mr. Chilcott was authorized to prepare a map giving the locations of lights, etc., at expense of the lighting district.

By resolution introduced by Supervisor MacBain, a portion of Portola avenue at Portola was abandoned as a county road.

Motorcycle Police Chief M. F. Brown reported:

Logan, 14 days, no arrests.

Lowans, 14 days, no arrests.

Vallejo, 12 days, 2 arrests, 4 convictions, 1 acquittal, fines $45.

Brown, 14 days, 1 arrest, 1 case pending.

The matter of establishing new precincts was brought to the attention of the Board and will come up for action November 3.

By motion the San Mateo county Panama Pacific Commissioners were instructed to make a report to the Board on November 3.

A communication was received from R. Seeney, claiming damages to the amount of $70 from the county, as costs for medical attention, necessitated by the biting of an unmuzzled dog, claiming that the county was liable because the dog-muzzling ordinance was not enforced. Referred to the District Attorney.

No report on the South San Francisco road change.

The janitor was instructed to remove a typewriter from the Sheriff's office to the office of the Superior Judge. J. M. Custer of San Bruno arose to inquire whether it was a red-haired or a black-haired typewriter, causing a laugh.

Supervisor Blackburn asked for the culverts on a road that is covered by the county bond issue and the Surveyor was ordered to go there and prepare for their construction.

"QUARANT ORE"

A "Quarant Ore," or a Forty Hours Prayer was held at the local Roman Catholic church at the beginning of this week. This devotion continues for forty hours in memory of the forty hours which the body of our Lord remained in the sepulchre. It was begun in Milan in 1534, and every Sunday in the year the service is changed from one parish to another by order of the archbishop.

Monsignor Ribera delivered the lectures in the Portuguese language. There was also a lecture in the English language on Monday night. There was a good attendance at all times—Half Moon Bay Review.

Palo Alto High Defeats San Mateo

Last Saturday on Stanford field the rugby team of San Mateo High School met defeat at the hands of the Palo Alto High School team. The score of 31 to 0 does not tell the full story. Palo Alto undoubtedly has the best high school rugby team in the state and San Mateo did well to hold it to such a score. The San Mateo boys surprised Palo Alto by putting up such a game fight and for the first half the game was practically even, the score being 6 to 0. In the second half the winners had recovered from their surprise and made better headway . San Mateo's forwards put up a better game than Palo Alto's, but the backs of the college town team showed the result of coaching by members of the Australian All-Blacks and were too much for our boys.

This was the last game of the season for San Mateo. L. Pride has been elected captain for next year's team.

BEHRENS SAYS MONEY SITUATION IS BETTER

California Bankers' Association Head Optimistic After European Tour

L. P. Behrens, president of the California Bankers' Association and cashier of the First National Bank of San Mateo County, of Redwood City, arrived home Tuesday from a four months' tour of Europe. Behrens, who was a delegate to the recent convention of the National American Bankers' Association at Boston, is exceedingly optimistic over the financial situation.

"Comparing the money situation when I left for Europe with the way I found it upon my return, I am agreeably surprised at the great relieving of the recent stringency. In Europe—which, by the way, is keenly interested over the Panama-Pacific Exposition—the Balkan trouble is having a depressing effect upon the money market."

Behrens was accompanied on the tour by his wife, his son, Louis, and daughter, Luella, both Stanford students.

BUILDING CONTRACTS

The following building contracts have been filed in the County Recorder's office:

The Vulcan Iron Works of San Francisco agrees to install a refrigerating and ice plant at St. Matthew's Red Cross Hospital in San Mateo in 30 days for $1380.

R. C. Stickle agrees to erect for Wm. H. Eddy a one-story frame building at Lomita Park in 90 days for $2600.

SUPERIOR COURT OF SAN MATEO CO.

Various Cases Coming Before the County Tribunal of Justice for Adjudication

SUPERIOR COURT

Caleb Coakley vs. Bessie Coakley—Interlocutory decree of divorce granted plaintiff and defendant granted permission to resume her maiden name.

Gustav Wolf and Ernest Held have brought suit against the East San Mateo Land Co. and W. H. O'Bear to compel the latter to execute a deed to lot 16, block 13, East San Mateo, in favor of the plaintiffs. The complanit alleges that Ernest Held on April 12, 1909, contracted for the purchase of the lot. He was to pay $385 for the lot, $77 down and $10 a month until the balance of $318 should be paid. Held, on October 19, 1912, transferred his interest in the property to Wolf, after paying the amount due. Both now join in the suit and ask that a deed be executed. Plaintiffs also ask damages in the sum of $500 for breach of contract.

Ernestine Huber has commenced an action against her husband, Joseph Huber, for an interlocutory decree of divorce on the grounds of habitual intemperance and extreme cruelty. The couple was married in Alameda October 15, 1910. They have one child, Ferdinand, aged four months. Plaintiff asks for temporary alimony in the sum of $30 a month, attorney fees of $125 and $25 costs and the custody of the child. Huber earns $2.75 a day.

C. H. Mullen has brought suit against W. C. A. Koehnecke and others to foreclose a mechanic's lien on a two-story building in Daly City for $425. Plaintiff erected the house and the amount represents the balance due him from defendants.

The trial of Loren Coburn, the aged Pescadero capitalist, who seeks to be restored to competency, began last week. He was declared incompetent by Judge Dooling in 1910, and since that time his guardian, M. J. Hynes of San Francisco, has managed his vast estate, which is worth about $1,000,000. Mr. Coburn is making the effort of his life to be restored to competency, that he may get possession of his holdings gained by years of toil. He is now 87 years of age, but is still hale and hearty. He has gathered a great array of legal talent to make this contest before the Court.

The second and last week of the California Land Show and Home Industry Exhibition is having record-breaking attendances. Friday, October 24, is San Mateo County Day.

BASKETBALL SEASON OPENS AT SAN MATEO HIGH SCHOOL

Girls to Play Mountain Views and Boys Meet Lick High School

Basketball started Monday at the San Mateo High School. About twenty players turned out for the practice. Captain Perham divided the squad into two divisions, first one squad playing and then the other. There will be a first and second team this year and manager Skinner has arranged games for both teams. After a practice for sixty minutes the players were dismissed except Chalmers, Perham, Feall, Batchellder and Barneson, who will play on the first team. A short signal practice was held and Captain Perham was quite satisfied with the showing made. Those who expect to mafe the second team are K. Pride, L. Pride, Ambert Borton and Biran. From these, however, K. Pride, L. Pride and Ambert Bortan may be selected as substitutes for the first team. The first game of the season will be held in the high school gymnasium when the local team will line up against Lick High School from San Francisco on Friday the 31st.

Next Tuesday the girls' team will meet Mountain View High School in a practice game. The game will be played in San Mateo. Under the direction of Captain Holloran the team has made rapid progress. Miss Halloran, who was the star player last year, will play again this year. Six of last year's team are back at school and all will play against Mountain View. A good game is expected. The local team expects to win back the laurels which they lost last year when Mountain View defeated them by a close score.

Dangerous Brush Fire

Last Friday and Saturday the hills north of town were for the most part shrouded in a heavy pall of smoke, and at night bright tongues of flame could be seen leaping skyward here and there. The grass and brush on the Scarpa ranch had been set on fire, from what source is not known, and thus provided a little excitement. No damage was done, although at one time the fire came dangerously near the buildings on the Wolfe place and it was necessary to resort to backfiring in order to save them.—Review.

Girls' Tennis Tournament

The tennis tournament held under the direction of the San Mateo Union High School for the girl students was a decided success. Eight girls turned out for the tournament. The tournament was played off under the direction of Leonard Whitmore, the school manager.

The handsome silver trophy donated by the 1910 Class was won by Miss Ada Gilchriste, who easily showed her superiority over the other players. Her hardest set was with Miss Ruth Krug, whom she defeated 6-3 6-4 in the preliminary round. However, it has been decided that there will be four tournaments and the winner of each tournament will meet an opposing player in the semi-final and the two winners will meet in the final round to decide the winner.

First round—Miss Henderson won from Miss Kyle, 6-0 6-0; Miss Halloran won from Miss Ryley by default; Miss Gilchriste won from Miss Krug 6-3 6-4; Miss Royden won from Miss Buck 6-0 6-0.

Semi-final—Miss Henderson won from Miss Halloran by default; Miss Gilchriste won from Miss Royden 6-0 6-0.

Final round—Miss Gillchriste won from Miss Henderson 6-0 6-0.

Deceased was a contractor and builder in San Francisco for more than forty years. He had been a resident of San Carlos for 25 years and was 84 years of age. He leaves a large estate, having accumulated a snug fortune in his business. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND GENERAL PROSPERITY

Hygiene and Finance Shown to Be Closely Related

This is an age which places an ever-increasing emphasis on the relation of good health to individual hygiene, to social effectiveness, to general prosperity. The race is to the community whose children thrive and whose workers keep well.

Human health is a purchasable commodity, as has been demonstrated in Cuba, Panama and the Philippines. New York City, with its advanced health ordinances and comparatively liberal supply of money to carry them out, is a striking example of what an urban community can do in the way of radical reduction in infant mortality and in the general death rate. Yakima county, Washington, is another example showing the result of systematic health work and liberal expenditure in a rural district. In twelve months under a full-time health officer, with a well-equipped laboratory and a corps of visiting nurses and sanitary inspectors, the death rate in the county from typhoid fever was reduced from 128 per 100,000 to 16, and the deaths from all causes fell from 538 in 1911 to 393 in 1912. Other instances of like effective work might be cited.

The mayor of Colorado Springs said recently to the delegates of the American Public Health Association that the problems of public health are even more vital than those of individual health. Appreciation of this fact comes slowly. Money to purchase public health is given grudgingly by those in charge of the public purse. St. Louis, the fourth city in the United States in both population and manufactures, spends annually only $100,000 on its health department, whereas it spends $2,000,000 annually on its police department, twenty times the amount spent for the promotion of the public health. Larger appropriations for health purposes will only follow the creation of public sentiment demanding them, and in accomplishing this the newspapers must play the chief role. The St. Louis Republic, recognizing this, has applied itself to the creation of a public demand for better support of the health department of St. Louis, and will present a plan for making that city the healthiest in the United States. At present the death rate in that city is considerably less than that of other large cities in the same latitude, and almost as low as that of Cleveland, New York and San Francisco, cities more favorably located geographically and climatically; but it is believed that it can be made still less. This commendable object will require not only increased appropriations for the health department, but the sustained cooperation of all citizens, and it is this cooperation which, with an intelligent grasp of the requirements, the Republic has begun a campaign to secure.

The newspapers and citizens of every community should awake to the fact that community health is a first principle of effective local government, and should adopt for their slogan, Public Health Is a Purchasable Commodity.

WHY SHOULD THE LAW BE AN ASS?

A magistrate in Philadelphia the other day voiced the opinion that a woman had a right to dress as she pleased and that it was none of the law's concern.

But Philadelphia magistrates don't have to be, and as a matter of fact, most of them aren't, learned in the law.

At about the same time another Dogberry, down in Alabama, was fining a young woman for appearing on the street clad in brother's pantaloons. There, as in many instances, women may "wear the pants" figuratively, but mustn't drape their figures in them literally, lest public morals be hurt.

Yet trousers are a hundred times more comfortable and more sanitary than the new-fangled styles which the law winks at, thereby setting an example for men.

A woman in trousers can get on a street car though the step may be high. She can chase a train with some chance of catching it if it is about to start. In doing so she doesn't mop up microbes or swish a cloud of dust in the nostrils of the passers-by.

Did you ever see a neater, prettier or more becoming costume than Rosiland's in the scene showing the forest of Arden? The law lets her wear that on the stage, but it would pinch the fair actress were she to don the same apparel for a public promenade on the street.

We can't quite follow the law in this. A great journal once ran a series of editorials headed "Why Should the Law Be an Ass?" We give it up.

Every mother thinks her son is a shinig light.

NEW TARIFF LAW IS NOW IN EFFECT

Reduction in Cost of Living Is Expected to Result

President Wilson's signing of the Underwood-Simmons bill brought into effect one of the most far-reaching revisions of tariff rates and revenue laws enacted for many years

A new income tax, applying directly to the incomes of citizens; the abolition of all tariff on scores of items of immense importance to American industry and American consumers, and a heavy reduction of tariff rates on most of the articles in general use in this country are its chief features.

While certain portions of the new law do not take effect at once, most of its provisions and almost all the direct tariff reductions do.

The Federal Government has been spending nearly a billion dollars a year and the new tariff law will raise less than one-third of that sum.

The income tax probably will bring the new tariff law most forcibly to the attention of citizens. President Wilson and Democratic leaders in Congress believe, however, that the reduction of duties on clothing, foodstuffs and other necessaries of life and the complete removal of the duty from many like articles will eventually bring a reduction in the cost of business prosperity.

The following is a brief summary of the new tariff law:

Average percentage of tariff rates as compared to the value of all imported merchandise: Old law, 37 per cent; new law, 27 per cent.

Value of annual imports added to the free list, $147,000,000.

Estimated revenues from all import rates: Old law, $305,000,000; new law, $249,000,000.

Estimated revenue from corporation and income taxes: Old law: $37,000,000; new law, $122,000,000.

Altogether consumers in the United States probably will receive from abroad free of all tariff more than $1,000,000,000 worth of merchandise during the year.

During 1912 the amount of free imports was more than $880,000,000, and when the tariff is entirely removed from wool, sugar, iron ore and cheap iron and other important items the total is expected to increase notably. Under the old law more than 53 per cent of all goods brought to the United States from all parts of the world paid no tariff, and that portion will be increased by the new law.

The free wool provision of the new law takes effect December 1 of this year; the free sugar provision May 1, 1916.

The new tariff law, passed four years after President Taft signed the Payne-Aldrich law, is the result of more than nine months of work in Congress. Hearings were started January 3 by the House Ways and Means Committee. Chairman Underwood introduced the tariff bill April 7, immediately after President Wilson had convened the new Congress. It passed the House May 8 and the Senate September 9.

In the opinion of its makers, the Democratic leaders of Congress, the most important features of the new tariff law are:

A reduction of nearly one-half in the average tariff on foodstuffs and farm products.

The placing of raw wool on the free list and a reduction of nearly two-thirds in the tariff on woolen clothing, especially of the cheaper grades.

A reduction of one-third (average) on cotton clothing.

Reduction of the sugar tariff and its ultimate abolishment in 1916.

A reduction of one-third (average) in the tariff on earthenware and glassware.

Abolishment of all tariff on meats, fish, dairy products, flour, potatoes, coal, iron ore, lumber and many classes of farm and office machinery.

General tariff reduction on all important articles in general use.

Throughout the long fight over the bill the Republican attack on the measure has been directed against those rates which the Republicans declared were so low as to threaten destruction to American industries through the competition of foreign manufacturers. The Democratic supporters of the new law have insisted that except in cases where the public welfare demanded radical changes the tariff has been reduced only to a point where it will "stimulate competition" without turning American markets over to foreigners.

A great amount of work will fall expected, in working out the details expected, ni working out the details of the new income tax and the methods of collecting the direct taxes from individual citizens of the United States. The tax upon corporations (1 per cent of their income) remains the same and becomes part of the general income tax law. A staff of special deputies, collectors and agents will be employed to organize and conduct the work of income tax collection.

ANALYSES OF COAL FROM VARIOUS FIELDS

Coal Mine Should Be Sampled as Carefully as Gold Mine

In the examination of various coal fields of the United States during 1912 by the United States Geological Survey, a large number of coal analyses were made for the purpose of determining, if the land was a part of the public domain, the value of the land underlain by the particular coal bed sampled, and in other areas to furnish information to the general public concerning the fuel resources of the country. These analyses have been grouped by states and are now available in a pamphlet published as advance chapter M from Bulletin 531, which may be had on application to the Director of the Survey at Washington.

In taking a sample of coal for analysis the geologist is instructed to make every endeavor to procure fresh unweathered material. He is supposed to face up the bed in the mine or prospect until fresh material is available, and then to obtain his sample by making a uniform cut across the bed from roof to floor, including all such benches and partings as an experienced and capable miner would include in commercial coal and throwing out such impurities as would certainly be excluded in practical operation. He is supposed to cut sufficient coal to give at least six pounds per foot of coal bed sampled. The sample is hastily pulverized in the mine until it will pass through a one-half inch mesh, and then is quartered down until about four pounds remain. This is placed in a galvanized-iron can, sealed with adhesive tape or parrafin, and mailed to the laboratory for analysis. The sampling is done on the principle that a coal mine should be sampled as carefully as a gold mine, and that the sample should be even more carefully handled after it has been taken. The object of sealing is to prevent change in the moisture content, so that the coal may reach the laboratory in practically the same condition that it exists in the mine.

THE OUTRAGEOUS JUGGERNAUT

How many of us, school children, used to see pictures of the juggernaut, that monstrous car, which in "heathen India" was driven ruthlessly over kneeling bodies, crushing human lives as a steam roller crushes stone, and be devoutly thankful that we lived in a land where there was no such thing.

Or read of cossacks driving steel shod horses through dense crowds, the while chopping at human heads with saber blows as cooly as farmers in the corn belt wield corn cutters at harvest time; and thrilled with pride that our own dear America was a land of the free.

The school children near Calumet, Michigan, won't feel these thrills of pride for some time to come, we suspect, now that "state troopers," with drawn sabers, rode down a mob of copper strikers, knocking down and trampling upon scores of persons, many of them women.

You see, these strikers had been under the juggernaut, our type of juggernaut—the tyranny of organized greed, wielded remorsely by agents of absentee capitalists. They had been flatly told that if they agitated for better pay or better conditions, or if they did not give up their right to organize, they could hope for no employment anywhere in the copper country—with its cruel blacklist the powerful trust would rob them of the chance to work and doom their families to starvation.

There is no idle bombast or frenzied rhetoric but the findings of the man—Judge Alfred J. Murphy of Detroit—whom the governor of Michigan personally sent into the copper country to investigate and report.

It is to combat such tyranny that the copper workers are striking. It was to discuss such grievances that numbers of them, with sympathizers, recently met in Calumet. It was they whom the state troopers, saber in hand, rode down and trampled.

Wilson's industrial commission, just it is to find out why this is and whither it is going to lead us.—Daily News.

The work of staging the play will be under the direction of Miss Officer and Prof. Faulkner. Mark Krause, president of the student body, has appointed the following committee to arrange for the play: R. N. Faulkner, chairman, for the faculty; Honorah Gittings, for the girls' basketball team; Frank Gittings, for the football team; Miss Elizabeth Officer, for the faculty. COST OF LIVING CONTINUES ITS LONG AVIATION TRIP

Bureau of Labor Finds That Prices of Necessities Stay Up

The cost of living on June 15 was approximately 60 per cent higher than the average between 1890 and 1900; more than 3 per cent higher than it was two years ago and nearly 15 per cent higher than it was two years ago.

Investigations of retail prices in 40 cities, conducted by experts of the Bureau of Labor, show prices practically at the same level as last November, when the high records of the last quarter century were reached.

Fourteen articles of food were investigated and compared with the average prices between 1890 and 1900. Every one except sugar showed a marked advance. Bacon, which led in the soaring, went up 128.5 per cent.

Other articles which showed remarkable advances were: Pork chops, 111 per cent; round steak, 102.5 per cent; smoked ham, 84 per cent; hens, 76.8 per cent; sirloin steak, 75.2; rib roasts, 75 per cent; lard, 66.5; corn meal, 57.3 per cent; potatoes, 44.4 prr cent; butter, 41.3 per cent; eggs, 40.8 per cent. milk, 38.4 per cent. flour 28.6per cent.

During the same period sugar showed a decline of 8 per cent.

During the last year prices of 11 of 15 articles investigated went up.

Bacon advanced 16.2 per cent; smoked ham 14.1 per cent; pork chops, 13.4 per cent; hens, 11.8 per cent; eggs, 11.7 per cent; round steak, 10.1 per cent; sirloin steak, 9.8 per cent; lard, 7.2 per cent; rib roast, 6.8 per cent; butter, 5.8; milk, 4.1 per cent.

The other four declined as follows: Potatoes, 31.9 per cent; sugar, 16.2 per cent wheat flour, 7.7 per cent; corn meal, 3 per cent.

Among cities where prices were investigated were San Francisco, Los Angeles, Portland, Seattle, Salt Lake City, Denver and Omaha.

Why Not Read on a Train?

Many people believe that it is injurious to the eyes to read on a train, but few seem to know why. The reason is the added strain on the delicate muscles of the eyes. The motion of the train shakes the paper or book constantly, thus continually changing its position and its distance from the eyes, keeping the delicate muscles of the eyes in constant action to readjust the focus. Extra work is thus thrown on these tiny muscles, as the changing of focus occurs sometimes a hundred times a minute.

Another cause of eye-strain in reading on trains is the poor lighting usually encountered. Often people try to read their evening papers on a train or street-car when the daylight is fading and before the car lights are turned on. Even with the lights on, the situation is not greatly improved. The cars are frequently crowded and strap-hangers sway back and forth between the paper and the source of light. Usually the light is high up in the center of the car ceiling and is badly placed for reading, the light being too far from the paper and the light rays being reflected into the eyes from the book or magazine. Some trains now carry library cars which have the source of light behind and at one side of the reader.

The best and newest Pullmans have side lights for reading. The usual railroad car-lighting equipment, however, is antiquated. Public opinion will do much to remedy these defective lighting methods. Illuminating engineers can be secured by railroads and other public carriers to devise proper methods of illumination, so that no excuse can be offered for improper lighting conditions.

The Voice

Voice is produced by currents of air vibrating through the vocal cords that are stretched across our "voice box" or larynx. The vocal cords are made of elastic tissue, so wonderfully fine and durable that it puts any man-made elastic to shame. The cords tighten and relax automatically.

When they are tight, the current of air that strikes them makes them vibrate to produce a high tone. When they are relaxed, a low tone is produced, just as in a violin string. The box that contains the vocal cords is made of cartilage and lies in the forward part of the throat. It is sometimes visible and is called the "Adam's apple." Behind the larynx is the entrance to the gullet, which leads to the stomach. The danger of having food or liquid enter the larynx instead of the gullet is admirably taken care of by nature. The larynx has a little hinged cover also of cartilage. It is called the epiglottis. Every time we swallow the epiglottis closes over the larynx. In old age the cartilages harden and the tissues grow less elastic. This is why an "old voice" is easily distinguishable from a young one.

For the Children

Costume For a Witch at a Halloween Party.

Ghosts hold carnival on Halloween and many and weird are the tricks and schemes prepared for that night. Entertaining is entirely informal, and it adds to the fun if the gathering be held in a barn, a loft, a kitchen or even a cellar. It is a good plan for one of the older girls to disguise herself as a witch. The illustration above shows an excellent costume. A "thrilling" pastime is to seat all guests upon the floor around a large muslin sheet, in an absolutely dark room. While the witch tells a blood curdling story illustrative objects are passed around underneath the sheet from hand to hand. A kid glove stuffed with bran and soaked in ice water for an hour is as clammy a hand as one could wish. Peeled white grapes, icy cold, make "loose eyes." cold boiled macaroni and spaghetti will represent muscles, a toy mouse and spider, a hot baked potato and a prickly burr add interest, while a plaster of paris skull could be added for the climax.

Domino Fortunes.

Most children have a box of dominos in the house. Did you know that there is a way of telling fortunes with dominos? Try to learn their significance and when your friends come tell them their future prospects. Lay the dominos on the table with their faces down, shuffle them, then draw one and see the number. Here are the meanings:—

Double six—You will receive money.
Six-five—Going to place of amusement.
Six-four—You will have trouble.
Six-three—You will ride in an auto.
Six-two—You will receive a present.
Six-one—You will give charity.
Six-blank—You will suffer.
Double five—You will move to another house.
Five-four—You will buy property.
Five-three—You will receive a visit.
Five-Two—You will take a water trip.
Five-one—You will have a romance.
Double four—You will treat a crowd.
Four-three—A false alarm at your house.
Four-two—Beware of thieves.
Four-one—Trouble with a friend.
Four-blank—You'll get a letter.
Double three—A sudden wedding.
Three-two—You will lose money.
Three-one—A great discovery at hand.
Double two—You have a rival.
Two-one—You will have a quarrel.
Two-blank—You will get good news.
Double one—You will find something.
One-blank—Success will award you.
Double blank—Bad luck.

Jumping the Candle.

This is a time honored game for Halloween by which any maiden may find out in what month she is to be married.

Twelve candles, named for the months in regular rotation, are lighted and placed on the floor about two feet apart in a long row or two rows if the room is small. Over these candles, one by one, each player must jump. The first candle that is extinguished by the draft of air from the jump tells the happy month.

Care should be taken to avoid setting the clothing on fire from the candles.

The Blarney Stone.

The blarney stone is a fine game for a Halloween and is considerable fun. A stone should be treated to a generous bath of whitewash and be placed in the center of a large table. A round one is best. Tell how the fairies have placed a spell upon it and great good fortune will attend any one who succeeds in kissing it after having been blindfolded and turned around three times.

Fortune Telling.

For Halloween burn all the letters of the alphabet in a big pumpkin with a hot poker. Then hang it in the doorway, twirl rapidly and have each guest try to stab a letter with a long hatpin. The letter hit is supposed to be the initial letter of one's future mate. If none is hit, celibacy is the fate in store.

Health Note.

What is the quickest way to get fat?
Buy it of the butcher.

The Jack-o'-Lantern.

All of the summer he grew and grew,
Hidden by cornstalks tall.
All of the summer the children knew
And eagerly longed for fall
As his golden color and wondrous size
They watched with joy in their merry eyes.

Jack of the Lantern, he'll light your path
Into the haunts of fay,
For this is the night when the pixies rule
And the goblins have their way
And fairies dance on the meadows green
The mystic circle for Halloween.

Cookery Points

Three Fireless Cooker Recipes.

For beef roll take ten ounces of lean beef from the shoulder or shin. Take two ounces of sausage meat, with an equal quantity of stale breadcrumbs. Cut the meat into slices one-half inch thick. Mix crumbs and sausage meat and spread on the meat. Roll up and tie firmly. Try out two ounces of fat salt pork and brown the meat in it. Take from the fat and place in an earthen dish. Add to the fat one tablespoonful of flour and brown. Then add one-half pint of boiling water. Boil five minutes. Season with one-half teaspoonful salt, one-half tea spoonful of Worcestershire sauce and two tablespoonfuls of tomato catsup. Pour over the meat and cook about five hours between thoroughly heated roasting plates.

Beef a la Mode.

Take one pound of the shoulder of beef and two slices of bacon. Salt, pepper and flour the meat. Put in an earthen dish and add three whole cloves, one-half dozen allspice, one slice of onion, one teaspoonful of powdered thyme, two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and half a pint of hot water If liked, turnips and carrots may be added. Cook five hours, using two roasting plates.

Sheep or Calf's Heart.

Stuff with sausage and breadcrumbs Season with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Put into an earthen dish and add one tablespoonful of tomato catsup and one slice of onion. Cover with boiling water and cook for five hours, using both radiators.

Fruit Babies.

Some delicious little fruit babies are sold in one of the shops that has made a name for itself as the home of unusual sweets. Each stands three or four inches high, and each has for a pedestal a square sand cooky. The little fruit baby is made in this way:

His two feet are two almonds implanted firmly in the cooky before it is baked—with pointed toes and rounded heels of course. The two legs are two plump figs that, by means of pushing and pulling, have taken on themselves the outline of the full breeches of the small Dutch boy.

The body, like a loose blouse, is a bigger fig. The arms are strings of raisins—four or five—that end in hands made of a half of a shelled peanut. The head is a big, square caramel, the face part white, with rich chocolate features, the hair part brown. A tiny cap made from a piece of a fig is perched rakishly over one corner of the funny square head.

Fruit Balls.

This is a toothsome confection in which figs are the principal ingredients. Grind separately and then together twice, equal quantities of dried or pressed figs, stoned dates, seeded raisins and nuts (hickory nuts, walnut or pecans). Take the white of one egg and the same amount of cream, stir together and work into it sifted confectioner's sugar until it is quite stiff Then work enough of this into the fruit mixture to bind it together. Powder the hands with some of the sugar and roll the candy into balls the size of marbles. These will be improved if allowed to stand a day or two.

Spiced Vinegar.

There are a number of good, blended, spicy vinegars one can make. It is more a matter of taste than materials necessary. One piquant and tasty vinegar is made by adding to a quart of cider vinegar one ounce of celery seed, one tablespoonful each of peppermint and spearmint, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, three small onions, four whole cloves, one teaspoonful of whole pepper, half of a grated nutmeg, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of sugar. At the end of three weeks strain and bottle. To be used to flavor salad and in making meat sandwiches.

Aunt Beckie's Corn Muffins.

Sift together one and two-thirds cupfuls of pastry flour, one cupful of soft white cornmeal, two scant teaspoonfuls of baking powder and a half teaspoonful of salt. Beat to a cream two tablespoonfuls of butter, with three tablespoonfuls of sugar, and then add three well beaten eggs. Dilute with a pint of milk and beat hard until batter is smooth. Fill well greased muffin tins two-thirds full and bake in a moderately hot oven.

Egg Pie.

Fry four large sliced onions in clarified dripping, drain these well and mix them with a rather thick, white sauce, adding in at the same time three hard boiled egg sliced. Line a shallow pie dish with paste, fill up with the mixture, cover with mashed potatoes and bake in a moderate oven.

Italian Cake.

Mix together two to three ounces of previously cooked rice, two ounces of butter, six ounces of grated cheese, one whole egg and pepper and salt to taste. Steam this mixture in a buttered basin or mold for one hour and ten minutes, turn out and serve with tomato sauce.

Points for Mothers

Poisons and Antidotes.

The mother who knows just what to do when the terrible accident of a dose of poison must be treated at once may save a child's life. It is every one's duty to have in mind a list of antidotes for ordinary poisons. If your memory is not good make one on a piece of paper and paste it on the wall of the bathroom.

Of course the prevention of the possibility of a child's taking poison is the important thing, but accidents are always occurring in the most carefully watched homes.

Impress on a child's mind the importance of taking nothing without permission. "Candy pills" may sometimes be poison. Sometimes a mother gives poison by mistaking a bottle in the medicine chest. An excellent idea is to have all bottles not only labeled, but marked with a card, on which a little bell is tied. This easy warning is particularly good in the dark, when so many mistakes occur.

Carbolic acid is one of the ordinary poisons that are found in the home and frequently taken in mistake. It burns the mouth, and its odor is unmistakable. Give epsom salts in abundance or soap. If the acid has burned the skin only, apply alcohol.

A child may take a large quantity of alcohol, which is classed as a poison. Give any simple emetic, such as mustard water, soap and water, etc. Apply a cold douche on the head and warmth to the body. If respiration is at a low register raise and lower the arms regularly, as is done in cases of drowning.

Corrosive sublimate should be counteracted by an emetic, followed by whites of eggs or great quantities of milk. Give tannic acid freely and a dose of castor oil to open the bowels.

Opium, including laudanum, morphine, paregoric or soothing sirups can be counteracted by permanganate of potash in doses of four to five grains if the mistake is detected right away. Strong coffee is another antidote; also atropine. Keep the patient awake at all costs by walking, artificial respiration and a cold douche on the head and spine.

Phosphorus poisons include matches and some roach and rat poisons. Give an emetic and follow it by doses of permanganate of potash, four or five grains well diluted. Epsom salts or magnesia should then be administered to open the bowels. Do not give milk or oil of any kind.

Silver nitrate (lunar caustic) has an antidote in table salt, followed by an emetic. Milk or whites of eggs are also effective.

Strychnine, especially in pills, is mistaken often for other medicine. Its antidote is tannic acid following an emetic. Bromide of potash given freely is good.

Alkalies, including ammonia, potash, caustic, should be treated by vinegar or lemon juice, followed by sweet oil.

A Baby's Party.

Mothers who wish to celebrate the first anniversary of the baby's birthday should give a party after the following suggestions:

All the guests should be mothers, who can also bring their babies, and the invitations should be sent out to the infants themselves with a note to the effect that "you can bring your mother with you if you like."

Other guests may be invited, but it is understood that all are to be baby worshipers, as the party is not to be spoiled by the presence of cynics.

The tea table should be decorated with little cradles of gilded wickerwork filled with the appropriate bloom of the month and tied with a lover's knot of satin ribbon to harmonize. In the center should be an arch of flowers towering above the baby's birthday cake, decorated with its one white candle, or, as some say, two, one to be the "life candle" and to be kept for the second birthday cake.

A postcard photograph of the baby, with the date of its birth in silver letters beneath, should be given to each guest and a small knot of flowers presented to all the babies assembled. One of the features of the afternoon is the baby guessing competition, in which every mother takes part.

Across the doorway is hung a curtain with a hole large enough to contain a baby's hand. One at a time each baby thrusts its fingers through this hole, and the mothers are asked to identify the child.

A prize of a baby's bib or a dainty pillowcase may be given, and the mother who makes the most mistakes is awarded a foolscap.

For the Schoolgirl.

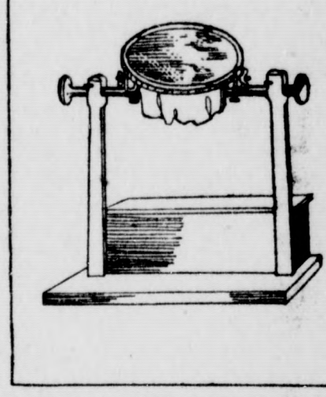
To make a dress wear longer and look neater while it lasts pretty collar and cuff sets in white or pale toned linens prettily trimmed with lace are a wise investment for the small girl, as they are easily laundered. They should be made in various shapes and sizes.

Sandpaper Baby's Shoes.

Always sandpaper the soles of baby's new shoes before they have been worn. This keeps her from slipping on the bare or polished floors and prevents many a bad fall, which could easily result in a sprain or broken bone.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

An Embroidery Frame That Leaves the Hands Free.



For the benefit of needle and embroidery workers an Indiana man has designed a handy apparatus. A lapboard has a pair of uprights mounted on it and rocking arms resting in grooves at the tops of the standards. These are short arms, and on their inner ends are clamps to hold the hoops in which the fabric is held taut. On the outer ends of the arms are knobs by means of which they may be manipulated. An elbow rest is mounted in front of the uprights. The needle worker holds the device on her lap and by turning the knobs on the outer ends of the arms adjusts the hoop to whatever angle she desires. It is thus held firmly, and she can give her whole attention to the making of intricate stitches and if necessary rest her forearms.

Deviled Tomatoes.

Peel and slice tomatoes, sprinkle them with salt and pepper, dredge with flour and fry in butter. Place on a hot platter and pour over this dressing: Four tablespoonfuls of butter creamed with two tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, one teaspoonful of mustard, one quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, a little cayenne and the yolk of a hard boiled egg. Add one egg slightly beaten and two tablespoonfuls of vinegar. Cook over hot water till it thickens, stirring all the time with a silver or wooden spoon.

Corn Chowder.

Put a large spoonful of bacon fat into a frying pan, and when hot put in a medium sized onion cut into thin slices, cook till soft and yellow, add a pint of water and let simmer. Pare four or five potatoes, slice thin, put in a pan, pour over them the water from the onions, add more water if necessary and cook till potatoes are tender. Then add a pint of green corn or canned corn, a pint of milk and salt and pepper to taste. Mix well, let it get very hot, stir in a spoonful of butter and serve.

Spanish Pork Chops.

Put two pounds of pork chops into a baking pan with one cupful of hot water. Place in a hot oven and bake one-half hour, basting often. Then take out, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with one pound of onions, sliced thin. Bake fifteen minutes, then cover with one-half can of tomatoes and bake again for twenty minutes. Put meat and vegetables on heated platter, pour gravy around meat and serve at once.

Southern Corn Pone.

One cupful of white cornmeal, one teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of lard, enough boiling water to moisten the meal, two tablespoonfuls of cold sweet milk and one tablespoonful of sugar. Stir all together, beat in two eggs and add two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Have buttered pan very hot and bake in quick oven twenty-five minutes.

Southern Beaten Biscuit.

One pint of flour, one rounding tablespoonful of lard, one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-half cupful of milk of water. Put lard and salt into sifted flour, blend thoroughly and add liquid. The dough should be thick and stiff. Knead until it blisters, roll as thin as possible, prick with fork and bake in quick oven.

Brunswick Stew.

This is a Virginia dish and very palatable. A medium sized chicken cut as for frying, two ears of corn cut from the cob, a generous handful of lima beans and three tomatoes. The chicken is parboiled and then add the vegetables, add also seasoning of salt and pepper and the whole cooked one hour.

Honey Gingerbread.

Put a scant teaspoonful of soda in a teacup, pour five tablespoonfuls of hot water on the soda; then fill the cup with extracted honey. Take one-half cupful of butter and one egg and beat together. Add two cupfuls of flour and one teaspoonful of ginger. Stir all together and bake in a very slow oven.

Spiced Tomatoes.

To each pound of sliced, ripe, red tomatoes allow one-half teaspoonful each of cinnamon, clove and allspice and one-fourth teaspoonful salt, one-half pound of sugar and one scant half pint of vinegar. Simmer till thick and place in jars.

"FLAPDOODLE"

The Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D., LL. D., who serves both God and Hearst for a consideration, (the larger the better), having sat in judgement upon two foolish girls who achieved much noteriety by eloping to Reno with two young married men, and having smitten J. Stitt Wilson mightily with his pen, instead of turning the other cheek, when Mr. Wilson trod on The Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D. LL. D.'s corns in a recent lecture on the "Barbary Coast in a Barbarous Land," now turns his rightous attention to the flaying of Mrs. Pankherst, leader of the English militant suffragettes.

Mrs. Pankhurst is coming to America to lecture at a very fat fee per lecture, and the money she receives from these lectures will go to the cause of woman suffrage in England

The Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D., LL. D., has no fault to find with the large fees demanded by Mrs. Pankhurst. The Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D., LL. D., believes in fat fees. He gets a fat fee for preaching the gospel. And he rejoices that Mrs. Pankhurst gets fatter fees than he does.

But horror of horrors—Mrs. Pankhurst does not use these fees for her personal enrichment. They go to help the cause. This is what sticks in the craw of The Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D., LL. D. If Mrs. Pankhurst were "out for the stuff," as the Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D., LL. D., is, and did not give to the cause she represents, as The Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D., LL. D., does not give to the cause he represents (if he represents any), he would find no fault, but the idea of being devoted enough to a cause to give up real, hard, hard-earned cash to help it, is something that did not enter The Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D., LL. D.'s head while he was studying the American language prior to leaving the mother country for the bigger fees to be collected on this side of the Atlantic. What he did learn was that "flapdoodle" means "the stuff that fools are fed on."

Verily, this pabulum served up to the readers of Hearst's San Francisco Examiner by The Rev. Charles F. Aked, D. D., LL. D., is "flapdoodle."

There may be something to that Mexican war scare, after all. A Richmond German wants a permit to establish a horse-meat cannery.

Isn't it about time to get that old saw, "Shop Early," out of the moth balls and begin to use it on the Christmas present buying public again?

An editor who started about 25 years ago with only 55 cents is now worth $100,000. His accumulation of wealth is owing to his frugality, good habits, strict attention to business, and the fact that an uncle died and left him $99,999.—Editor and Publisher.

Cruelty to animals isn't the greatest crime on the statutes, but it is one of the meanest. A man who will drive a sick horse should be given a lesson in decency, and a good lecture from a judge, backed up by a fine or a few days in jail if necessary would help some.

General Huerta may consider himself a Cromwell or a Porfirio Diaz, but the world knows him to be a cowardly traitor and an assasin. By the way, the Republic of Mexico, wherever it is, wants to remember who was its friend in the days of Maxmilian!—San Francisco Star.

Friday, October 24, is San Mateo County Day at the California Land Show and Home Industry Exhibition in San Francisco. Let's make a big showing. You're going to see the big Portola parade on the same day, and while you're in San Francisco, don't overlook the Land Show.

The "Coastside Boosters'" masquerade ball at Half Moon Bay, may be deserving of the name "Coastside Boosters," but we notice that their printing does not bear the imprint of either the Half Moon Bay Review or Coast Side Comet, the two great mediums of boosting on the Coastside.

Miss Julia C. Lathrop of the Children's Bureau of Washington declares that 300,000 babies less than one year old died last year in this country, and she adds that it has been authoritatively ascertained that at least half of these deaths were needless. The Bureau points out that practically all of the deaths of small children are due to conditions existing before birth, or injury or accident at birth. A monograph entitled "Prenatal Care" has been issued by the Children's Bureau, and may be obtained free by writing to Miss Lathrop.

San Mateo County Day, Friday, October 24, will be of particular interest to the people of this county.

Monday afternoon Mrs. H. W. Weigerson was hostess to a group of friends. The time was spent in doing fancy work for the bazaar which the Women's Guild is to hold November 13, and which each member is striving to make a success.

Richard Pengelly, a native of England, died October 15. He leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. J. G. Campbell and Mrs. E. W. Sweenty. The funeral took place Saturday from the residence, thence to Woodlawn Cemetery, under the management of McCarthy & Stead.

George Dittus has brought suit in the Superior Court against Andrew S. Barron for $5000. Dittus was kicked by Barron's horse October 27, 1912, and after long treatment and operations one of his legs is three inches shorter than the other, making him a permanent cripple.

H. E. Griffiths, retired capitalist-editor, who recently sold the Half Moon Bay Review, came to San Mateo Thursday morning with his household effects and shipped the same to Concord, Contra Costa county, where he will settle down to the easy life on Easy street.

George Roy Siegwald of Palo Alto, who is more or less well known in San Mateo, having at one time been employed at the Wilson (now Letham) candy store, was married Tuesday at the parsonage of the Congregational Church by Rev. C. H. Stevens, to Miss Catharine Williams of Redwood City.

The pastor and official board of the Methodist Church have invited Misses Welker and Jones to assist the pastor in services and canvassing our city to awaken new interest in the church and Christian living. They begin Sunday, November 2. The public is urged to attend and co-operate in the good work.

Catching from a grass fire the unoccupied dwelling at Tenth avenue and D street owned by Gineseppe Siracusa burned to the ground. There are no hydrants in that part of the city and the fire had gained such headway before the arrival of the fire department that nothing could be done to save the building. The alarm was turned in at 1 p. m.

About 3 p. m. a grass fire in San Mateo Park called out the fire fighters again. The blaze was extinguished before doing a great deal of damage. The fences on Dr. Robert's place were burned, but the fire did not reach any buildings.

JAPANESE IS ACCUSED OF INSULTING LITTLE GIRLS

Trap Results in Capture of Oriental With Many Obscene Pictures

By the arrest of T. Tomita Saturday morning Constable M. Sheehan believes he has brought an end to the terrorizing of small schoolgirls by a Japanese which had been going on for a couple of weeks. Children between the ages of 9 and 13 years were being accosted in the mornings by a Japanese, who would always appear in unexpected places and would ride away on a bicycle if a man approached.

A trap was laid for him by Constable Sheehan and George W. Hall, supervising principal of the San Mateo schools, which resulted in the capture of Tomita. Sheehan took him after a chase and had considerable difficulty in overpowering him. When searched he had more than a score of obscene pictures, which he is charged with having shown to the little girls. Tomita was identified by several girls as the man who had accosted them.

Tomita was taken to the county jail at Redwood City. He claims he lives with his wife at 616 Fourth avenue and is engaged in the house-cleaning business.

Society Leaders Back From East

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz King have returned to California after an extended trip through the East. They visited relatives in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Annapolis. The Kings returned to San Francisco last week and after a short stay at the Palace Hotel came to their home here, where they will spend the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Boswell King and William King, who is a student at the University of California, visited their parents over the week end. While in the East Mr. and Mrs. King were entertained by their other son and daughter-in-law, Ensign and Mrs. Starr King, who are stationed at Annapolis.

About as soft a job as we can imagine is that of an innocent-looking, sweet-faced, sweet-voiced female book agent calling on the bachelor trade.

The honest way to discontinue a subscription to a newspaper is to first pay the small amount you owe. Thus you will retain the respect of the editor and guard your own peace of mind. To do otherwise, such as ordering the postmaster to notify the publisher that the paper is "refused," is cowardly, sneaking as a snake thief, and worse than highway robbery.

Mrs. Joseph Alieri of Colma gave birth to a fine baby boy on October 20.

Mrs. Willard L. McKay entertained several friends Tuesday afternoon.

Several local items were handed in Thursday evening, too late for this issue.

The Colma-Vista Grande Aerie of Eagles will give a smoker next Thursday evening at Colma Hall.

Hon. R. S. Thornton, the grand old pioneer of Colma, made a business trip to Redwood City Monday.

Mrs. Wm. Frater of San Francisco visited Mrs. Richard Harris at her home on Santa Ana avenue Monday.

Mrs. W. N. Flaherty, who returned home from Lane Hospital last week, has had a relapse and was again taken to the hospital Tuesday.

S. R. Emmons has returned from a three weeks' stay in Oakland, where he was quite ill during the time. He is now much better and thinks he will soon be well and hearty again.

Miss Elizabeth Lorenz, the esteemed teacher of the Colma school for many years, who resigned recently, was married at San Rafael October 17 to Frederick J. Walsh.

Motorcycle Policeman Lowans, who was badly injured two weeks ago by being blocked by another machine while in pursuit of a speeder, is improving rapidly and will soon be on the job again.

Another little stranger arrived at the Record home Wednesday noon, October 22, 1913, weighing nine and three-quarter pounds, and her name is Tamsel Brown. Both mother and child are doing fine.

Cruelty to animals is bad enough, but cruelty to small children is far worse. To beat a small child is like striking your aged mother and results in no more evil, for both are just cowardly—not brutish—for a dumb animal is more humane.

Silvio Belli, who for many years conducted a mercantile business at Colma, gaining a large circle of friends by his always fair business dealings, has sold his hotel at Calistoga, where he went about two years ago, and has returned to his San Mateo county home.

Correcting an Erroneous Impression

Last week we suggested that the Tattlers' grand prize masquerade ball is for a most worthy cause and should receive the hearty support of every citizen of Daly City. Now we find we were mistaken. Robert L. Behre, editor of the Tattler, writes to tell us that it "is not for a 'worthy cause,' nor was it ever intended as such." "Though I expect a percentage of the proceeds," he writes, "I would have you know this affair is not given for a 'worthy cause.'" He asks that we correct the impression which has become current since the incorrect item was published.

We desire to apologize to Robbie Behre if we have, unintentionally, offended, and we desire to thank him for the nice little boost he gives the Record when he credits it with being such a fine advertising medium and so reliable that everybody takes for granted that what we said of the Tattlers' ball is correct. And we are sorry that we have, even unintentionally, boosted something that is not for a "worthy cause."

Lecture on Panama Canal

The high school board has arranged for a course of lectures to which the public is invited. The first lecture will be given Monday evening, October 27, at the high school auditorium. The speaker will be Prof. B. L. Lick, secretary of the lecture bureau of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. His subject will be: "The Panama Canal." The lecture will be illustrated by moving pictures of the canal and California and the Pacific States. Admission will be free.

Another lecture is being arranged for, to take place during November, when E. B. Hartranft, former superintendent of the Seattle schools, will give an illustrated lecture on a "Trip Around the World." These pictures are beautifully colored, showing the scenes in their natural colors. Announcement of the date of Mr. Hartranft's appearance will be made later.

Ocean Shore Company Wins

Judge Seawell has rendered a decision declaring that bondholders in the old Ocean Shore Railway Company who exchanged their stock for stock in the new Ocean Shore Company, which was organized by a committee of trustees, are not entitled to have bonds issued to them by the committee in lieu of the stock which they now hold. The old bond holders, the court has ruled, are bound by their agreement to accept stock in place of the securities of the old company and have no right at this time to insist that the reorganization committee issue bonds to them in exchange for the stock which was issued when the reorganization of the company was undertaken two years ago.

Menlo Park Flower Show

The Menlo Park Horticultural Society will hold its annual flower show October 31 and November 1 and 2. The display will be shown in Menlo Park and will include a tour of some of the famous estates. A large list of prizes is offered. The Menlo Park floral display is one of the most exquisite that is assembled in the State. Mrs. J. B. Coryell, the "orchid queen," shows the noted orchid plants she has in her possession and exhibits are made from the estates of James L. Flood, Fred W. Sharon, Mortimer Fleishacker, James A. Folger, Timothy Hopkins and others.

Saved the Shingles

A more or less mysterious fire about 11:30 o'clock Monday night destroyed a small house belonging to a Miss Carlson, south of the park. Being in close proximity to the Espinoza shack which was burned about two weeks ago the Carlson house was considerably damaged and repairs were being made Monday and all was about completed except the shingling, so the shingles were still on the ground and therefore not burned. Companies 2 and 3 responded promptly, but the fire had gained such headway that the house was completely consumed.

Eloper Is Bigamist

Constable M. Sheehan has received word that Otto Zoellnar of San Mateo, who eloped with Miss Hirthe Mehrstedt of Oakland, has been apprehended in Portland, Oregon. The couple secured a license and were married there October 13. As wife desertion is not an extraditable offense, Zoellnar will not be brought back to San Mateo, but will probably be tried for bigamy in Portland, where that offense was committed.

You never live with a woman so long but that once in a while she will do something to dispel any incipient notion you may have had about understanding her.

PENINSULA POPULATION IN 1798 WAS NOT LARGE

Record of Census Taken 115 Years Ago Comes to Light

The earliest record census ever taken in San Francisco was in 1798, in the days of the old Spanish occupation, when California's population was composed of more Indians than Spaniards—and when the Gringo was practically unknown.

Hidden away under a pile of musty, dusty papers in the office of the Secretary of State, Theodore Kytka, handwriting expert, discovered the other day the original document of inhabitants on December 31, 1798—nearly 115 years ago.

A hand-written record, on heavy old Spanish parchment paper, this venerable relic tells that 115 years ago there were exactly 2915 inhabitants in the jurisdiction of the San Francisco Presidio—206 "Spanish and other castes" in the Presidio proper and 62 in the Villa Branciforte. The rest of the population of what is now the city and county of San Francisco, as well as the peninsula far down the coast, consisted of nine Spanish and 2638 Indians divided between the old Mission Dolores, the Mission Santa Clara, the Mission Santa Cruz and the Mission San Jose.

The population of Santa Cruz in 1798, according to the document, was 512, of which 510 were Indians. The jurisdiction of San Francisco, including the Presidio, Villa de Branciforte and Mission de San Francisco, contained 895 souls, of which 625 were Indians. Santa Clara had 1388 souls, of which only three were of pure Spanish caste, and San Jose had a population of 120, of whom 118 were Indians.

The Voice

Voice is produced by currents of air vibrating through the vocal cords that are stretched across our "voice box" or larynx. The vocal cords are made of elastic tissue, so wonderfully fine and durable that it puts any man-made elastic to shame. The cords tighten and relax automatically.

When they are tight, the current of air that strikes them makes them vibrate to produce a high tone. When they are relaxed, a low tone is produced, just as in a violin string. The box that contains the vocal cords is made of cartilage and lies in the forward part of the throat. It is sometimes visible and is called the "Adam's apple." Behind the larynx is the entrance to the gullet, which leads to the stomach. The danger of having food or liquid enter the larynx instead of the gullet is admirably taken care of by nature. The larynx has a little hinged cover also of cartilage. It is called the epiglottis. Every time we swallow the epiglottis closes over the larynx. In old age the cartilages harden and the tissues grow less elastic. This is why an "old voice" is easily distinguishable from a young one.

High School Students to Give Play

The students of the San Mateo High School are preparing to hold an entertainment in the auditorium of the high school. The work of staging the play will be under the direction of Miss Officer and Prof. Faulkner. Mark Krause, president of the student body, has appointed the following committee to arrange for the play: R. N. Faulkner, chairman, for the faculty; Honorah Gittings, for the girls' basketball team; Frank Gittings, for the football team; Miss Elizabeth Officer, for the faculty. Finance committee: Edgar Batchelder, chairman and treasurer; Floyd Fisher, auditor; W. L. Glascock.

TO TELL MOON'S PHASES

Few people can tell at a glance whether the moon is waxing or waning. Here is a whimsical rule to remember by. It is very simple to those who know Latin and no difficult to those who do not. The first thing to is to notice whether the moon is like D or C—that is, whether the full semicircular curve is on the right or left. If the moon shows a D, that naturally stands for decreasit, "it wanes."

But then comes in the great principle "The moon is always deceitful," and one has to understand the opposite of what the moon says, so that a moon which shows a D is a waxing moon, while a waning moon is like a C.

Those who have no Latin will no doubt look to see whether the moon says it is "decreasing," in which case they will understand that it is waxing, while a waning moon will deny that it is "decreasing."

BIBLE STUDY ON

A GOOD MAN'S SIN.

Numbers 20:1-13—Oct. 26.

"Let the words of my mouth, and the meditation of my heart, be acceptable in Thy sight, O Lord, my Strength, and my Redeemer."—Psalm 19:14.

FOR thirty-eight years the Israelites resided in the wilderness, making Kadesh-Barnea their camp center, but occupying a considerable portion of the wilderness with their flocks and herds. In April of the fortieth year after leaving Egypt, by Divine command through Moses, they assembled at Kadesh, prepared to enter the Land of Promise.

But the water supply was scant. Murmurings arose, and inquiries whether it were not as well to have perished in Egypt or elsewhere as to perish there from thirst. Moses and Aaron went to the Lord with the matter, desiring Divine guidance.

Moses Views the Land.

"The glory of the Lord appeared unto them." This glory is surmised to have been a ray of light emanating from the Mercy Seat in the Most Holy. They were instructed to take the rod, presumably "Aaron's rod that budded," and that was kept in the Ark in the Most Holy. That rod would remind the people of the Lord's special acceptance of Aaron as the high priest and Moses' assistant. It would be a sign to them of the Divine favor which hitherto had guided them, and which would continue to guide all who trusted in the Lord.

Smiting the Rock a Sin.

The Lord particularly directed that Moses should speak to the rock, and that in response waters would gush forth. About thirty-eight years before, in a similar experience near Mt. Sinai, Moses had been instructed to smite the rock; but in this case the rock was not to be smitten.

Here Moses and Aaron sinned. "The meekest man in all the earth" forgot himself, and allowed a spirit somewhat akin to pride, self-sufficiency and anger to control him for the moment. Smiting the rock, he cried to the people, "Ye rebels, must I bring you water out of the rock?"

The water indeed came forth, as the Lord had promised. The people indeed got the blessing needed, but one of the most illustrious servants of God there fell under Divine disapprobation. The Lord's decree was that neither Moses nor his brother should enter Canaan. Moses, however, was permitted to go with the people to the end of the journey, and then from Mt. Nebo to see the promised Land of Canaan.

This condemnation does not signify Divine reprobation to eternal torment or to any lasting dishonor. Moses got his entire punishment then and there, before death, as do all of God's saintly ones. Whatever stripes, chastisements, punishments, of the future, shall be meted out to mankind in general because of wrong-doings in the present life, there are none reserved for the saints. The Apostle explains that they are chastened now that they may not come into condemnation with the world.

They Drank of the Rock—Christ.

St. Paul points out that the smiting of the rock was symbolical. As the manna typified Jesus, so did the smitten rock also. The refreshing water from the rock symbolized the blessings flowing from Christ's sacrifice. The smiting of the rock at the beginning of Israel's experiences was authorized of God. It was necessary that upon Jesus should fall the rod of affliction, even unto death.—Isaiah 53:5, 6.

Just what was symbolized by the second smiting, which God did not authorize, is not explained by St. Paul. The fact that it was punished indicates that it was wrong, and that it symbolizes some improper course on the part of the professed people of God. Two suggestions come to us, either or both of which may be applicable:

(1) A smiting of the Body of Christ in the end of this Age;

(2) A repudiation of Christ on the part of those who once have been enlightened.

Edomites, Moabites, Midianites.

When the time came for entering Canaan from Kadesh, the nearest route was through Edom. When Israel asked permission to cross Edom, it was refused. In harmony with the covenant between Esau and Jacob, Israel detoured to the south, and passed through Moab.

Moses Made a Brazen Serpent.

This detour was disheartening. Again there were murmurings against Moses, who really represented God to them. Their murmurings were promptly punished. They were not protected from the serpents prevailing in that vicinity. Many died from the serpents, until Moses made a brazen one and erected it upon a pole. Throughout the Camp went messages, directing the people to look to the brazen serpent and be healed.

Thus a lesson was written for Spiritual Israel. The fiery serpent of sin has bitten mankind. All are dying, and only by the exercise of faith in the Crucified One can any be healed. The day is nearing when Messiah's Kingdom will bring blessings to all.

NOTABLES IN THE LIMELIGHT

Charles F. Marvin, New Chief of the Weather Bureau.

Professor Charles Frederick Marvin, the new chief of the United States weather bureau, has been connected with the national meteorological service for nearly thirty years, having entered the service as a junior professor in 1884. He is known all over the world as an inventor of meteorological apparatus and has been a voluminous writer on the theoretical as well as the practical side of instrumental meteorology. In recent years he has devoted special attention to improving the meteorographs used in connection with kites and balloons for exploring the upper air, to perfecting hygrometric apparatus and methods, to the calibration of anemometers, to the measurement of evaporation and to the improvement of pyrheliometers.

A PRACTICAL JOKE

Perpetrated on Halloween

By ESTHER VANDEVEER

Clarence Rudd as a boy was full of fancies. He loved pictures, music, story. He was a voracious reader, his favorites being the "Arabian Nights' Entertainments" and "The Wonder Book."

One day in autumn, when Clarence was about sixteen years old, he heard his sisters talking about Halloween. He asked them what it was, and it was explained to him. Bess told him that she was intending when she went to bed to look into a mirror and expected to see there the face of the man she would marry looking over her shoulder. There is something attractive in the idea, especially to a very young person. It seized upon Clarence's wonder loving disposition and would not let go. There was one feature about it that he could not understand—if a girl might see the image of her future husband looking over her shoulder in a mirror, why might not a boy see his future wife?

There is no reason why a sensitive boy should not be a manly boy, and Clarence was both. He would not, for the world, let his sisters know that he would do a girlish thing. Indeed, he would not do a girlish thing. He would not look in a mirror to see the face of a sweetheart simply because that was a girl's prerogative. But before thinking he gave expression to the idea that there was no more reason why a boy should not see his sweetheart than that a girl should see her lover. Then as soon as he had spoken the words he blushed.

His sister Kate, two years younger than Clarence, saw the blush, and it gave her an idea. Kate was full of mischief, and nothing so delighted her as playing a prank. If she could only arrange to have her brother see a girl's face in a mirror on the coming Halloween! She clapped her hands in glee at the thought.

Once the idea had taken root in Kate's head she fell to planning the details. At first she thought as to which of her girl friends she would prefer for Clarence's sweetheart. She passed them all in review and at last decided that not one of them was good enough for him. Besides, the effect upon him would be more pronounced and he would more likely be deceived if he should see one he had never seen before. Then Alice Arche, whom Kate had met at boarding school and admired very much, occurred to her. Clarence had never seen Alice. Kate would ask her friend to visit her on the 31st of October. But she must contrive that Clarence should not see Alice before seeing her reflection in the mirror. This would be difficult to arrange. It might be easier if she took Alice into her plan, but this she did not wish to do if she could help it. After much thought she concluded that alone she would not be equal to the task. Indeed, it seemed that the whole family must be in the secret or it would be given away. She went to her mother and begged her assistance.

Mrs. Rudd smiled at her daughter's plan and at first pronounced it impossible, but finally, converted by Kate's pleading, she gave way and promised her aid. She said it would be best for the plan to take no notice of Halloween as it approached. Alice's coming could be kept from the rest of the family, and it might be possible for them to spring their trap without any one except themselves being in the secret.

Alice Arche received the invitation and accepted it. Bessie Rudd, four years Kate's senior, was admitted to the secret since her assistance was necessary. Alice arrived after dark on Halloween, and Kate was driven to the station to meet her. On her return with the guest all the children younger than herself were safe in bed. Bess was in Clarence's room with him. She had gone there to make herself useful in carrying out the plan. She knew of Kate and Alice's arrival and had timed her visit accordingly. The door of the room was open. She had continued to get her brother with his back to it and his face toward the miror of his dresser. In this position he remained while chatting with her.

"Tread softly," said Kate to Alice as they went upstairs. "The children are asleep." Kate led the way to a corridor leading past Clarence's room and, pausing, said:

"You will find your room at the end of this hall. The door is ajar, and the light is turned low. I am going for some toilet articles that I had forgotten. I will be with you in a few minutes."

Alice proceeded as directed. Passing the room in which Bess and Clarence were she naturally gave it a quick glance. That Clarence saw Alice's reflection in the mirror was evident to Bess from the expression on his face, but she paid no attention to it, chatting on as if she had seen nothing. What she was saying her brother did not heed. He was thinking of the girl's glance he had seen in the mirror before him.

"Some one—a stranger—just passed the door. Did you see anything?"

"See anything? What do you mean?"

Now, Halloween was in Clarence's mind, and for a moment the idea that he had seen his future wife dominated him. But fear of being rallied for such a fancy deterred him from following the matter further.

Bess proceeded with what she had been saying and knew that Kate's scheme had been successful. Soon after this she went to Kate's room, where she found both Kate and their mother, and the conspirators, especially Kate, listened eagerly to what she had to report concerning Clarence and the reflection and what he had said about it.

"So far so good," exclaimed Kate, after listening to what her sister said. "Now what?"

"There is nothing more to be done," said the mother. "Clarence will meet your friend at breakfast and"—

"And what?"

"It won't be easy to explain the matter, will it?" Mrs. Rudd finished thoughtfully.

"Indeed it won't," Bess remarked. "I'm afraid, mother, we've got into a muddle in consenting to aid Kate."

"I'll keep Alice in her room in the morning," said Kate. "That will give us time to make up a story or something."

"We'll simply make a joke of it, as was intended," said Mrs. Rudd. "Come, girls; go to bed."

Clarence Rudd was as sure that he had seen a girl's face in the mirror on Halloween as he was of his existence. But why had not Bess, who was sitting with her face to the open door, seen the flesh and blood as he had seen the image? He was puzzled, but his mind clung to the correct solution that the girl had been in the house. Would she be there tomorrow? He expected to see her at breakfast.

But when morning came and the stranger did not appear at the breakfast table, no member of the family making any reference to her, Clarence was staggered. He studied the face of each of the older members of the family, but gained no satisfaction. After breakfast he went out, and after a conference of the conspirators, at which it was decided that the guest must be informed of the prank that had been played, Kate carried a breakfast up to Alice and while it was being eaten told the whole story.

If there was any fear that Alice would be displeased it was allayed at once.

"There's but one way to carry out your scheme to its proper end, Kate," she said. "I must go away from here without your brother seeing me."

"And then?"

"And then—let me see—it would be a good plan for you to visit me and arrange that he should come, too, while you are with me."

Mrs. Rudd endeavored to get the girls to bring the matter to an end without, as she expressed it, running any more risk, but Alice was obdurate and insisted on having her way.

"You put me into it," she said, "without consulting me. There's lots of fun in it, and I don't wish to see it spoiled. I think you should permit me to handle it from now on."

It was decided to let her have her way. She left at once, and it was arranged that Kate should visit her within a few weeks.

Clarence's natural reticence prevented his saying anything about the face he had seen on Halloween, and the secret of the conspiracy was kept from him. In time Kate went to visit Alice Arche and when about to return wrote her brother that she had "picked out" her friend for him, at the same time suggesting that he come for his sister and escort her home.

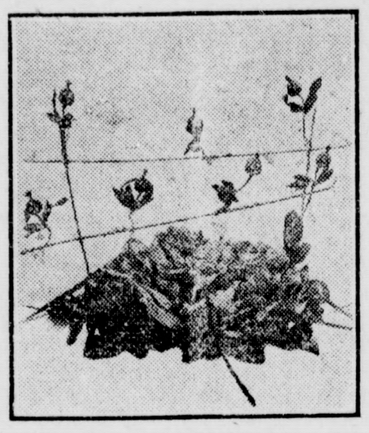
Alice Arche and Kate Budd agreed that when Clarence appeared they would keep up their game. But when his sister introduced him to the girl whose image he had seen in his mirror his expression was too much for them. Neither girl succeeded in keeping a straight face. Kate burst out laughing, and Alice, seeing that the end had come, followed suit.

"I knew there was a prank being played on me!" exclaimed Clarence, prevaricating, for he knew nothing of the kind. "Come; out with it. I must have an explanation at once."

The explanation was made, and Miss Arche treated the affair as the joke it was, but it had made an impression on the impressible Clarence. He had for weeks been dreaming of the face he had seen on Halloween, and it was not destined to fade. Years after his sister had played her prank upon him he married Alice Arche.

BE UP TO DATE.

Halloween "Critters" That Talk and Move.



NEW JACK HORNER PIE.

Do you know the very latest, up to date, sauciest novelties that this mad, funny Halloween season has brought forth? No mere pictures these. No inanimate affairs to be looked at once and then forgotten. The really new Halloween "things" are full of life and action. They move, they squeak, they bow, they raise their hats, they open their jaws, they turn somersaults. They do as many tricks, in fact, as though their pumpkin heads and grotesque bodies had indeed been bewitched by the spirits that prowl abroad on Halloween night.

Accordingly the inevitable black cat is meowing, the goliwog clown is whirling around in somersaults, and the pumpkin jack-o'-lantern is uttering funny squawks through a wide open mouth that opens and closes, and so it goes.

Perhaps the most alluring of the Halloween creatures is a black cat with paper muslin body, concealing a little bellows, to be pressed between the fingers. The one pressure makes the "meow" and causes the cat to lift up before its face a cunning little pumpkin shell mask. The Jack Horner pie seen in the illustration is an appropriate centerpiece for the Halloween supper table and when filled with these funny "moving" favors creates a jolly lot of sport among the guests.

The Home Beautiful.

Painted and enameled chairs of the colonial style are most fitting for bedroom furnishing.

A simple striped paper in two toned grays is a most appropriate background for "period" furniture.

In pondering the fall wall paper problems a good suggestion for guidance is that dark papers make a room seem smaller, and red should not be used in living rooms as it absorbs light and is a nerve irritant.

Bedroom furniture which is dark and gloomy may be transformed into articles of beauty by the use of varnish remover and ivory or cream paint. Additional attraction may be given by painting gay wreaths or nosegays on the repainted furniture.

What Is Smart In Bags.

If you would be smart and right up to the minute this winter you must have a hand bag to match each costume. Nothing could be lovelier for afternoon bridge parties or for the matinee than one of the new pompadour vanity bags.

Such a model is seen in the cut—a delightful affair of hand embroidered black moire silk with flowers in natural colorings. The bag has two compartments, one for toilet necessities and the other for small change. The handle is of broad silk, and a handsome black silk tassel finishes the end of the little accessory.

To Dress Like Eskimos.

The girls of the Phoebe Ann Thorne Open Air Model school at Bryn Mawr, which was opened this fall under the direction of Bryn Mawr college, will wear Eskimo suits this winter, with furs. Only twenty girls will be allowed to take advantage of the school this year; but, no doubt, it will be enlarged if as successful as it is hoped that it will be.

Good Form

Wedding Stationery.

Above all, the invitation cards and announcements should be elegant, dignified and according to the accepted conventional style, which any first class stationer will be glad to show to you when you are deciding in this matter.

White or cream paper, with black engraving, is always in good taste. The exact proportions vary, but you can decide that from the various samples offered to you.

Plain script or block lettering is used, and if any crest or initials of the bride be added to the top it is embossed in white. This is really unnecessary. Monograms and other devices in colors or metals are not correct.

When you order your wedding stationery after choosing the style you will find that one invitation has two envelopes, one a little larger than the other. The smaller one is not sealed; the larger one is the outer one, on which the postal address is written.

Cards announcing the at home date of the bride and bridegroom and their new address are ordered and inclosed with the invitations.

The accepted form of an invitation is quite simple. It is arranged like this:

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Janet
to
Mr. Richard Davis
on Monday evening, October the fifth at eight o'clock
St. Catherine's Church
New York

Another form has a dotted line on which is to be written by hand the name of the guest.

Sometimes when a church wedding is in danger of having uninvited strangers filling the pews, to the exclusion of the guests, a card of admission is inclosed with the invitation. It is a small white slip and has on it:

Please present this card at St. Catherine's church on Monday, October the fifth.

If the bride lives in the country the city guests are notified of the trains, etc., by small cards engraved:

Train leaves Grand Central station for Roselyn at 6:30 p. m. Returning train leaves Roselyn at 10 p. m.

Very rarely is R. S. V. P. used on a wedding card. These letters stand for the words of a French phrase that means, "Reply, if you please." They indicate that an acceptance or declination is requested. These letters are never added to an invitation to a church ceremony only. They are used when provision must be made for guests and the number to be entertained must be known in order to insure comfort to all.

Those brides elect that do not wish to go to the expense of wedding stationery, especially if the ceremony is to be a simple one and witnessed by a very few, are now writing personal informal notes inviting their friends to share the happiness by being present. Announcements can be ordered and sent to all friends and relatives. This plan simplifies matters and is growing in favor with women who feel that the wedding day must be shared only with the few dearest ones.

The Day at Home.

Most women whose circle of friends is at all large find it more convenient as well as pleasanter for all parties concerned to have what is called "a day." One afternoon each week or, more rarely, one afternoon a fortnight is set aside for the express purpose of receiving visitors. This is done by having engraved on the calling card, in the lower corner, directly opposite the address, the word "Mondays," "Wednesdays" or whatever the chosen day may be. This, of course, signifies to all on one's visiting list that this is the day of the week set aside for receiving calls.

The woman who has a day should always mention it when inviting new friends to call. She says, "I am always at home on Wednesday afternoons, when I shall be delighted to see you," or something to the same effect. When a day has once been selected and announced to one's friends in the manner indicated it must be adhered to rigidly. It is most discourteous to be "out" on an "at home" day. A hostess should let nothing short of illness, the death of a relative or important business keep her from being in readiness to greet all comers. On all other days callers can without offense be turned away from the door with a simple "Not at home," but on the day she has herself set for receiving them a good and perfectly legitimate excuse must be offered if she is absent.

The maid who attends the door on an "at home" day should wear a black dress that is rather simple in style, white turnover collar and cuffs and a very small white cap and a white apron with a tiny bib. She opens the street door as soon as possible after the bell has rung and offers a small tray for the caller's card and directs her to the drawing room.

To Announce Engagement.

If this is to be done at a card party write the name of the lady on each queen of hearts card and the gentleman's name on each king of hearts card. These are then shuffled into the pack and dealt out in the usual way to be discovered in the first hand.

Woman's World

President Aids Housewives In Fighting High Cost of Living.

MRS. JULIAN HEATH.

Mrs. Julian Heath, national president of the Housewives' league, said not long ago: "I blame the high price of food conditions primarily on women—those who never know the price of anything before it is bought or prepared and those who do not know good food from bad. Of course there may be some other sociological and economic aspects. We have all paid the price for our thoughtless sister, and we want conditions to change, and generally what the women of the nation really want they get."

This very frank statement by Mrs. Heath has proved itself prophetic in the face of the recent announcement that the government at Washington is engaged in the preliminary work of a nationwide investigation of the causes of the cost of high living and remedies for the problem.

The problem, as the administration is considering it, is embraced in these two divisions:

First.—How to provide the average farmer with the ready means to increase the production of his land.

Second.—How to lift for all the people, and particularly the masses in the great centers of population, the burden of the steadily increasing cost of food. It is to the solution of these two questions that the administration in both the executive and legislative branches is turning its attention.

Within the past few weeks the public has been told that this winter city dwellers will be compelled to pay 75 cents per dozen for fresh eggs and that eventually fresh meat, beef in particular, will command a retail price as high as $1 a pound. Indeed, the trend is toward a decided jump in all food commodities. This administration officials say, emphasizes the great urgency of governmental action. The work has progressed to the point where the legislative branch will be asked to lend its support and pursue the work along definite lines with important and farreaching legislation at the winter session of congress.

Women in all walks of life will watch this investigation on the part of the president with great interest, involving, as it does, their daily expense budget.

NOTES ABOUT WOMEN.

Miss Eva Bibeau refused the position of city auditor at Long Beach, Cal., which carries with it a salary of $2,400 a year.

The Pennsylvania State college has received a gift of $6,200 from the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the proceeds of which will maintain scholarships for two women of the state.

Mrs. Wilfred Chase of Merrimack, Mass., has gone into partnership with her husband as a house wrecker and now goes out with him every day and does as much physical labor as he does.

An interesting form of training has been introduced into a well known girls' school in the shape of a bank where the pocket money of the girls may be deposited and drawn just as from a regular bank.

Every three years the vestry of Hay, France, has $600 to vote to the unmarried girl of the parish who has most distinguished herself for simple goodness, courage, patience, labor, piety and other Christian virtues.

FOR THE CHILDREN

A Number Puzzle.

Ask a friend to think of two, three or more numbers, none of which must exceed nine, and you will tell him the numbers thought of. If he thinks of two numbers double the first and add 1 to the product, multiply the whole by 5 and add to that product the second number. If there be a third make him double the first sum and add 1 to it; then desire him to multiply the new sum by 5 and to add to it the third number. If there should be a fourth number you must proceed in the same manner, desiring him to double the preceding sum, to add 1 to it, to multiply by 5, and then to add the fourth number, and so on; then ask the number arising from the addition of the last number thought of, and if there were two numbers subtract 5 from it; if three, 55; if four, 555, and so on, for the remainder will be composed of figures, of which the first on the left will be the first number thought of, next the second, and so of the rest.

Suppose the numbers thought of to be 3, 4, 6; by addding 1 to 6, the double of the first, we have 7, which being multiplied by 5 gives 35; if 4, the second number thought of, be then added, we shall have 39, which doubled gives 78, and if we add 1 and multiply 79 by 5 the result will be 395. Lastly, if we add 6, the third number thought of, the sum will be 401, and if 55 be deducted from it we shall have for the remainder 346, the figures of which 3, 4 and 6 indicate in order the three numbers thought of.

Boy Scout Tree Census.

Massachusetts Boy Scouts of America are enlisted in a state competition which has assumed big proportions. A "tree census" is the strenuous task the boys have tackled. In different towns and cities scouts are busily canvassing their own localities, listing the trees and getting data concerning the species, health and general appearance. A system of cards with spaces for diagrams, statistics and other information is in use. Pretty large consignment, this work of listing all the city trees in Massachusetts! But the boys are competing for prizes which will equip the troops that win them for many months to come. The State Forestry association has offered three prizes—$60, $50 and $40. The boys may have the money or the equivalent in trophies.

Game of Cobbler.

The players form a circle around one of their number, who personates the cobbler and for whom a stool is provided, on which he takes his seat, saying, as he goes in mimicry through the operations of his trade: "Come, ladies and gentlemen, come and let me try on your shoes!" to which the band reply by dancing round him as quickly as possible, singing, "Try, try!" The cobbler, without moving from his seat, strives to seize one of the dancers—a girl by her dress or sash, a boy by his leg—and, if he succeeds, becomes master and remains idle in the middle of the circle, while his prisoner pays a forfeit and becomes cobbler.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORT

Yale Eleven Has a Strong Defensive Line.

WARREN, RIGHT TACKLE.

One of the particular blue ribbon events of the football season will of course be the annual battles between Yale, Princeton and Harvard.

The Yale line is calculated to be one of the best in the country this year and is depended on to stop the heavy Harvard backs and the speedy Princeton back field.

Warren, at right tackle, is one of the Yale line men that can always be depended on to do strong defense work, and he is effective in breaking up interference.

An Odd Baseball Play.

President Tim Murnane of the New England league has made a decision on an odd play in settling a disputed game between Portland and New Bedford. President Murnane overruled his umpire on the play and awarded the game to Portland, which would have won it otherwise. Murnane's decision explains the disputed play as follows: "One man was out and one man was on third base when a fly was knocked to the outfield, which was juggled by one outfielder and caught by another. The umpire allowed a double play after the ball had been relayed to third because the runner left the base after the ball left the first man's hands. The umpire should have allowed the run, as the runner was entitled to leave the base the moment the ball touched the fielder's hands, whether held, muffed or juggled. This run would have won the game and prevented it from going an extra inning. Accordingly the protest is allowed and the game awarded to Portland."

K. O. Brown Going Back.

It was only the semblance of the old Knockout Brown who fought against Danny Ridge in the Atlantic Garden in New York city recently. The once renowned "Knockout" just about held his own against the east side lightweight and failed to show the speed, aggressiveness and power that made him a championship contender only a year ago. He was a great deal off on judgment of distance and did not quite show the fondness for mixing it up that one time characterized his style. A whirlwind start and an equally fast finish gave Ridge an even break with his more famed opponent.

Football Players Must Study Also.

That the Princeton faculty will show no partiality to athletes was demonstrated again recently when it was definitely learned that L. H. Boland was ineligible for this year's football eleven. Boland has an enviable gridiron reputation, and on him the Tiger supporters were pinning a large part of their hopes. He is a quarterback and a field general of exceptional ability, and he is a past master in the art of kicking and forward passing. He entered Princeton last fall.

Wefers Thinks Mark Will Go.

Bernie Wefers, one of the holders of the world's record of 21 1-5 seconds for the furlong dash, is reported to be of the opinion that the distance can be run in less than 21 seconds.

From the way money is rolling in at the Tax Collector's office it cannot be said that there is a scarcity of coin in the county. Taxes became due Monday, October 13, and since that time Mr. McSweeney has been kept on the jump receiving taxes from all portions of the county.

Percy Weeks, proprietor of the Woodruff Hotel at La Honda, pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor without a license before Judge Lampkin last Thursday and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50. Weeks was arrested three weeks ago on information secured by a detective who was hired to trap him.

Four-year-old Ruth Stevens, daughter of Rev. C. H. Stevens of the Congregational Church here, owes her life to the pluck of Adrian Carleton, a senior in the Sequoia Union High School. The child fell into 10 feet of water in Redwood creek and was being carried under a bridge when Carleton plunged into the water and dragged her to safety.

Commends Women Election Officials

Women make the best election officials, according to District Attorney Franklin Swart, after canvassing the returns of the school bond election held in Burlingame October 14. The District Attorney and the School Board went over the returns Tuesday and did not find a single inaccuracy. This is the first clean record Swart says he has found in the many elections since he has been in office, which he attributed to the women on the election board.

The four women who officiated are well known Burlingame club women, and it was their first experience on election boards. Mrs. Martha M. Kreft and Mrs. Lillian MacBain acted as judges in Precinct No. 1 and Mrs. Virginia Pohl and Mrs. Medora Rollins officiated in Precinct No. 2.

Give Your Neighbor an Equal Chance

By HOLLAND.

IF you have been buying goods of a mail order house you doubtless think it has been to your advantage to do so You have believed that you were saving money or were getting better goods. Let us see if this is true.

Have you tried to do business with your local merchant—your neighbor—on the terms that the mail order house exacts? No? Then suppose you try it.

Just go into the store, plank down your cash and tell what you want. You might even tell the merchant that you will wait a few days for the goods. See if your local merchant can't serve you better and as cheaply as the mail order house.

The local merchant usually extends credit for two, four or six months. The mail order house demands cash in advance. It uses your money as working capital. It loses nothing in interest, nothing in bad debts or on slow paying customers. Try this cash in advance plan on the local merchant—the man you know—and see if he can't make it to your advantage to SPEND YOUR MONEY WHERE YOU MAKE IT.

BUILDING TRADES COUNCIL OF SAN MATEO COUNTY

IN THE YEARS TO COME

I see a world where thrones have crumbled and where kings are dust. The aristocracy of idleness has perished from the earth.

I see a world without a slave. Man at last is free. Nature's forces have by science been enslaved. Lightning and light, wind and wave, frost and flame, and all the secret, subtle powers of earth and air are tireless toilers of the human race.

I see a world at peace adorned with every form of human art, with music's myriad voices thrilled while lips are rich with words of truth. A world in which no exile sighs, no prisoner moans; a world on which the gibbet's shadow does not fall; a world where Labor reaps its full reward; where work and worth go hand in hand; where the poor girl in trying to win bread with the needle—the needle which has been called "the asp for the breast of the poor"—is not driven to the desperate choice of crime or death, of suicide or shame.

I see a world without the beggar's outstretched palm; the miser's heartless, stony stare; the livid lips of lies; the cruel eyes of scorn.

I see a race without disease of flesh or brain—shapely and fair, the married harmony of form and function—and, as I look. life lengthens, joy deepens, love canopies the earth.

And over all, in the great dome, shines the eternal star of hope—Robert G. Ingersoll.

PROBATE MATTERS

Matthew C. Callan, administrator of the estate of Mary Callan, deceased, has petitioned the Superior Court to have lots 6, 8 and 9, block 20, School House Land Association, Colma, set aside to Michael Callan, father of the petitioner. On July 15, 1886, Michael and Mary Callan placed a homestead on the property. Now, as the surviving party, Michael Callan seeks through his son to have the title of the land vested in him. Mrs. Callan died in 1909.

Women's clothing has been a puzzle, but it is getting so it is not so hard to see through.
